

Vote Today In Primary

Candidates for offices of the Associated Students of Columbia Basin College gathered in the front hall prior to today's primary election in which two candidates for each major office and six representatives will be selected. They are (left to right) Kay Soper, Carol Brumwell, Nanci Loudermilk,

Candidates Vie For Place In Final Vote Next Week

Primary elections today will select the top two candidates for each of six student offices.

The election will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., giving all students the opportunity to vote for candidates of their choice.

Three candidates are running for each of the six student body offices.

Glenn Weitz, a native of Walla Walla, graduated from Whitman College in 1959. He is active in the student body.

He would like to develop a closer unity among students. He feels that emphasis on intra-college activities would further help in the development of a stronger sense of spirit at CBC.

Daryl DeGood, a criminology major from Richland, was born in Puyallup, Washington and graduated from Columbia High, Richland. He is a member of the United Christian Youth Club and is quite active in his church. He says he would work to improve school spirit through better communications between students and their government and by encouraging more active support of campus organizations. He is planning to attend WSU after leaving CBC.

Larry Taylor, a 1960 graduate of Kennewick High, was born in Kalispell, Montana. He is a political science major, and is thinking of going to Reed College after leaving CBC. He is active in many campus organizations, including the Chess Club, Student Council, Young Republicans, and the Collegiate. He indicated that he would work to promote club growth and encourage student government and leadership.

Both Taylor and DeGood were tapped for Phi Theta Kappa.

Four students are candidates for the office of vice president:

Dick Davidson, freshman from Pasco, is a psychology major. His activities include representing the freshman class on the student council and working as photographer for the Collegiate. He says he would back up student interests on anything they control through the Student Council.

Veronica Colby, an English education major, graduated from Pasco High in 1960. She was born in Pendleton, Ore. Veronica is a member of the Student National Education Association, and is on the Freshman Class Executive Board. She feels that she could benefit her fellow students while gaining worthwhile experience taking part in the student government.

Sarah Garth, Kennewick High graduate (1960), is a general major. She was born in Russellville, Ark.

Bob Avery graduated from Pasco High in 1960. He was born in Springfield, Missouri, and is a music major.

The position of ASCBC Secretary is being contested by three students:

Carol Brumwell, freshman from Kennewick, indicated she was interested in helping the student body progress at

CBC. She has been active at CBC as a Songleader, as Secretary of the Ski Club, and as assistant editor of the annual. She is a member of Talons, CCUN, and Thespians. Carol was born in Chicago, Illinois.

Mary Anderson is a general major from Pasco. She is a native of Walla Walla. Mary graduated from Pasco High in 1960.

Nancy Loudermilk is a sociology major from Kennewick. She was born in Fairfield, Iowa. Nancy graduated from Kennewick High in 1960.

Candidates for the three Sophomore representatives - at large are Marilyn Baird, Gerald Shepard, Robert Akers, Kay Soper, Susy Topp, John Hall, Wayne Kelly, Bill Kring, Dick Kurz, Jim O'Connell, Ron Neuman, and Marsha Reimers.

Does Activity Council Serve Good Purpose?

This page of today's COLLEGIATE carries a story of the April suspension of the AWS, one of the most active campus organizations, by the Student Activity Council. The reason—failure to have a representative at the Student Activity Council for two consecutive meetings. And this is not the first suspension—there have been others.

Why? Could it be that the Student Activity Council is a good idea put into effect prematurely? Are CBC campus activities extensive enough to warrant what amounts to a weekly session of Congress? One would not think so.

Ahhh, but what about the future, you might ask. Has it ever occurred to anybody that when growing pains begin to hurt then the Student Activity Council might have something to work with?

As it is now the Student Activity Council appears to be a society for frustrated idealists. It has been answered that they are merely in the development stage. Ulcers are nothing to fool with fellas!

Circus Atmosphere Created By Eager Campaign Artists

It never fails before a political campaign at CBC that the walls come to look like the fence around the Polo Grounds a week before Ringling Bros. Circus is scheduled to appear. Although the CBC signs may not have the intellect of the circus posters, they certainly don't rate second in gaudiness.

The logic used to sway supposedly impressionable minds is sometimes quite elusive, sometimes staggering, and sometimes a trifle sickening.

Some are absolute gems, as "Follow The Path Of DeGood," and others make one wonder, as "Be Creative, Vote For Sarah." The Vote for LRT attempt at image-creation by some pseudo-public relations genius is certainly one of the more interesting subtleties of the campaign.

One constructive purpose is being served however, that of a proving ground for future Al Capps, Mort Walkers, and Milton Caniffs.

Sculptress Fiore de Henriquez To Appear Here On Monday

Foire de Henriquez, will be presented by ASCBC, April 17, at the Pasco High Auditorium at 10:00.

The title of the presentation by Miss de Henriquez is "In Love With Clay." A woman of astounding artistic energy, she has modeled more than 3000 people, many of them of international importance, in the past eight years!

pressed was the British artist with the bust Fiore did of him that, at 74, he embarked on a serious study of sculpture under her tutelage.

Fiore has since become a British citizen and has had three exhibitions at the Royal Academy. She was commissioned to do such work as the fountains at Cliveden by Viscount Astor; the sculpture in

The names of those who have sat for Miss de Henriquez read like a Who's Who of celebrities — Sir Laurence Olivier, Dame Sybil Thorn-dyke, Igor Stravinsky, Augustus John, Noel Coward, Peter Ustinov, the Duke of Bedford, Vivien Leigh, Margot Fonteyn and many others of similar fame.

Fiore was born in Trieste of a Spanish father and a mother born in Central Europe. Her father was the last of a great Spanish family that traced its descent from the first king of Portugal and numbered among its ancestors the second wife of Christopher Columbus.

She began her studies under the great Italian sculptor, Arturo Martini, who taught her, above all, to be an artist not merely a sculptress. After the death of the master, she left Venice to go to the Dolomites, where for three years she learned to work with wood.

At the age of 25, she gave her first show at the Galleria Rizzi, then the best gallery in Florence. Seventy pieces of sculpture, of every kind of subject and in all media, and Fiore sold them all.

The black-haired artist with glowing dark eyes and a ready laugh calls it the greatest moment of her life when she met Augustus John, the famous English painter. "He believed in me," she says, "and publicly said so. From him I learned what genius is and what happens to your heart and soul when you create." So in the private park of Lord Ridley; and a statue of Sir Walter Raleigh to be placed to Trafalgar Square (a maquette of which was presented by Queen Elizabeth to the people of Jamestown, Virginia, on her recent visit to America.

Fiore first came to America about five years ago under the patronage of Huntington Hartford, who commissioned her to design a museum for him to be built on his property in Hollywood. Mr. Hartford told her that it was his ambition to have this build a sculptor, just times Michelangelo to build the ca. Peter's in Rome

Fiore worked for two years a model which day to see built her work have many of the art world, including ples, Milan, New York and can cities.

Open Letter To The Students of CBC

by the president and secretary concerning the activities of the Council. The former would facilitate communications by requesting that the representatives give a weekly report on student suggestions and give the President a chance to discover students' feeling about various problems.

The Student Activity Council is of great concern to everyone. Basically the idea is excellent and, as in all things, experience and time are needed to see it function well. SAC provides a common meeting ground for all campus organizations where they may help each other solve their problems and promotes the objectives and activities of the individual clubs.

I think that this purpose may be better served by placing this concept clearly before SAC members and encouraging them to sponsor activities as a unit. I also feel that the sponsoring by SAC of an Orientation Day in the fall to acquaint in-coming students with campus organizations would be wise.

The office of Inter-collegiate Commissioner, when fully utilized, could be very beneficial to CBC. For this reason, I propose the following: the appointment of a Freshman to assist the ICC commissioner and making it mandatory that the ICC commissioner attend all SAC meetings. The latter is important because it is up to the ICC commissioner to promote inter-collegiate exchange programs and I feel that he must be fully aware of our campus organizations, their plans, activities, and capabilities.

One of the problems which has confronted the Council recently and is now under investigation is the problem of transportation for campus organizations. I would hope to see either the purchase of additional cars or at least a clearer channel of communication about available dates for cars.

The Junior College Leadership Conference is sponsored by the Inter-collegiate Commission for the purpose of training the newly elected officers of each JC and to help them solve their common problems. CBC has actively participated in the JCLC and I think it could be very beneficial for CBC to host it next spring. It would provide an opportunity for us to introduce our college to the other JC campus leaders as well as helping to better acquaint our students with this state-wide organization.

I, as do most students, fully realize the important position of athletics on our campus and feel that we should do our utmost to support this campus function.

Student enthusiasm has always been considered a problem and perhaps the establishment of a Pep Club would help solve it. Also an intramural athletic program would not only promote a better interest in athletics but would provide additional recreation and activities.

The Student Union has been adequately discussed and recent legislation indicates that it can be established in the next several years with adequate student support.

Community relations are important. CBC is a community college and I feel that the Student Council should take a more active part in promoting our college in the Tri-Cities by working with the local Chambers of Commerce and service organizations.

I realize that this has been a rather lengthy dissertation, but it is highly improbable that I will have the opportunity to speak with each of you personally, and I did want to have an opportunity to present you with my views.

If you have any further questions or ideas please attempt to see me.

Respectfully requesting your support,
Larry R. Taylor

I feel that it is a great honor to be nominated for the office of president of the Associated Students of CBC. Whether I receive the office or not, I can look back in my later life and be proud that I had a chance to express myself with my fellow students and was able to lay some early stepping stones in the history of CBC.

This is my aim: to make us all participants.

I could make all kinds of promises, but I would only be repeating what the others have said, and possibly be getting into something I could not make come true if elected.

I want to represent you — and reflect your wishes and desires, and not be the sort of president who tries to tell the students what should be done.

But I would like to get the students out of the bleachers and on the participating floor in the affairs of the school. There are various areas where each of us can further the interests and prestige of the college — such as in debate, drama, sports, music, etc., and in bringing closer educational and social ties with the other colleges in this area.

I should like to create more avenues through which to increase student participation, not by the few, but by many. There are very limited areas in which one can have mass participation and as a result, the more forward participate. I want to see new blood—we have got to get off our dead bottoms and participate. If the school is good enough to help us advance toward our life's goals, we equally should be good enough to advance the name and reputation of Columbia Basin College.

If elected I will try to make my fellow students proud of our school, and also make the people of this area proud to have us in their midst.

All I can really say in this short time is that if you wish me to represent you as the next president of the Associated Students of Columbia Basin College, I will do my best. Thank you.

Glenn Weitz

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The presidency of the ASCBC demands a very conscientious person of proven abilities and one who has an honest desire to serve you, the students.

Larry Taylor is such a person, in my opinion. He was very active during his high school years but of prime importance are his activities as a student at CBC.

Larry has proven to me as well as to many of his other fellow students that he is truly and actively interested in the activities and organizations on our campus.

As a political science major, a past officer of many organizations, and a member of the Student Council, Larry is actively seeking the opportunity to serve you.

I base my support of Larry Taylor on two main points. The first is his active interest and participation in our campus organizations and programs. Through this he has come to know many of the students, faculty, and administration. His experience on the Student Council has presented him with the opportunity of both observing and taking part in the achievements and failures of our present student government as well as being acquainted with the various channels of communication and operation of the council, in the council, and administration.

Secondly, I support Larry as an individual because of his past performance and conservative manner.

I know what Larry Taylor has done and is capable of doing and therefore sincerely request your support for him.

Keith Stone

Dear Editor,

Achievement, interest, and advancement are fine words, but unless there is something supporting them they remain just words. I feel that the person who will put action and meaning into these words is Glenn Weitz.

Glenn's past record, positively indicates that he is qualified for the office of ASCBC president. He was president of his sophomore and junior classes at Walla Walla High after also serving as vice president. In his senior year he was elected president of the student body.

He is an all-around student in activities and in his studies. Along with these fine accomplishments, Glenn is also sincerely interested in the welfare, promotion, and improvement of CBC and in its progress.

It is my sincere hope that you will carefully consider my candidate when you vote today.

Christine Romanelli

Dear Editor,

In my opinion Daryl DeGood is an excellent person for president. Through his varied administration experiences in high school and college, he has gained considerable knowledge about leadership, and I personally feel that he is fully capable of fulfilling the vacancy that will be left by outgoing president Dan McMillin.

Consistency in performance is one of the traits of a good leader. Daryl is an honor graduate from Richland and has a 3.5 grade point average in college. He has been tapped for the national junior college honorary scholastic society, and this in itself indicates that he is a hard working and outstanding student as well as a person capable of leadership.

Daryl's interests include people—all people. He is the president of a young adult group at the Central United Protestant Church and is working strongly toward getting an exchange program among other young adult groups in this area. Daryl is also a member of the East Pasco Recreation Committee promoting the construction of a recreation center in that area.

DeGood's being a Richlander shows his interest in the betterment of the whole area, other than his own place of residence. A leader is one who does not favor accomplishment that benefits only himself and Daryl has truly indicated that he is interested in others, especially the students of CBC.

He is an outstanding person. He values all ideas that will better individuals and groups. Truthfulness and trustworthiness are two of his own traits, and these two traits are essential for good leaders.

Campaigns are exaggerated, but the qualities I have listed for Daryl DeGood are not. For this reason, I would like to see him elected president of the Associated Students of Columbia Basin College.

Collegians Release Conservative Paper

(ACP) — Circulation of a new monthly newspaper, Campus Conservative, staffed "by students from every school in Mississippi," is reported to have extended as far away as Michigan State. According to Tom Rawlins, writing in the Mississippi Collegian, aim of the publication is "putting across the views of conservatives on college campuses across America." John Perkins of Millsaps is editor.

Play Cancellation Announced Here

Cancellation of the Drama Club's production of "Look Back In Anger," which had been scheduled for May 4 and 5, has been announced by student director Jim Thorpe.

The production had encountered difficulties during its brief rehearsal period, beginning with the withdrawal of a leading cast character, and a hunt for a replacement. It had originally been scheduled for presentation in April.

The immediate cause of the cancellation, according to sponsors David Smith and Joseph Taylor, was the fact that the cast members neglected to appear for rehearsals.

Co-ed Classes Best For Men

(ACP) — Men do better in co-educational classes, while women do better in all-female sections. The classes under discussion are televised sessions of a one-credit required course in personal health. The conclusions are those of an Ohio State University research team.

Other findings reported by Ohio State Lantern after one year of a still-continuing study involving about 2,000 students:

Large sections did better than small ones, with women in the large sections doing best and men in the large sections doing better than those in small ones.

Twelve prospective new members were tapped Monday by the local chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college scholastic honorary.

Five are freshmen and six are sophomores.

Sophomores so honored are Ernest Backlund, Robert Brunelle, Tracy Beale, Harold Oak, Paul Sheldon, and Jerry Votendahl.

Freshmen honored are Fredeliz Ambrocio, Fredda Anderson, Diane Lundgren, Ronald Neuman, Larry R. Taylor, and Daryl DeGood.

To be eligible for membership, a student must carry a class load of at least 15 hours for two quarters. Freshmen must maintain cumulative grade point averages of 3.3 for two quarters and sophomores must have cumulative grade point averages of 3.2.

Candidates must possess both good scholarship and good character, and their names are submitted to the organization by a faculty screening committee for a vote of the membership.

Requirements were raised slightly for a winter tapping this year, at which time the organization added 17 new members. Requirements for the regular spring tapping were in force today.

The purpose of the club is to promote scholarship at CBC and to honor those students who have achieved high scholastic standing.

Its activities include sponsorship of discussions and a student tutoring system.

Clark Here For Chess

CBC's undefeated chess team entertains the chess team from Clark College this evening at 8 o'clock in the CBC lounge.

Although the final board line-up is unknown, an unofficial ranking is available. Ron Neuman is expected to play first board. Larry Taylor is expected to play second board.

On third board will probably be Jon Shepard. Gerald Shepard is expected to play fourth position. Ken Williams is expected to play fifth board. Either Don Lash or Ron Gray may play sixth board.

Two weeks ago CBC defeated Clark, 9-3, in a chess match at Vancouver. CBC has also defeated WSU this year and has a re-match with the Cougars on April 30.

Neuman, Taylor, and Jon Shepard all have 3-1 records this year. Williams has a 2-0 record; Ted Burton, math instructor, has a 2-2 record, and Gerald Shepard has a 1-1 record.

Neuman, president of the pawn-pushers, invites any interested people to attend the match.

Forensics Squad Travels To Stockton, California For National Debate Tourney

Six Phi Rho Pi members are in Stockton, California, for a national debate tournament on the Stockton Junior College campus.

Members at the three day affair are Marv McWhorter, Dan McMillin, Bonnie Ray, Linda Darnell, Michele Briece, and Julia Whitby.

Besides entering debate, each member will enter two or three individual events. McMillin will enter extemporaneous speaking and original oratory as well as junior men's debate. McWhorter will be his partner. Miss Whitby will enter extemporaneous speaking and original oratory as well as junior women's debate. Michele Briece, Bonnie Ray and Linda Darnell plan to compete in original oratory and interpretative reading events as well as debate.

The meet began Thursday morning and ends tomorrow afternoon. Phi Rho Pi chapters participating are from as far away as Kansas and Wyoming. The greatest number, however, are from California schools, particularly junior colleges.

Members of CBC's chapter of the national junior college forensics honorary have competed and studied all this year in preparation for this tournament. They have hosted two
